(A) if an individual; a person with

- net personal assets¹ of S$2 million or equivalent in foreign currency. The fair market value of the individual's primary residence, net of all liabilities, must not account for more than S$1 million of total net personal assets; or
- net financial assets² exceeding S$1 million; or
- income in the preceding 12 months is not less than S$300,000 or its equivalent in foreign currency; or
- a person who holds a joint account with an accredited investor, where investments are made through the referenced joint account

(B) if a non-individual,

Net value of primary residence is calculated as the estimated fair market value of the residence after deducting outstanding amounts under mortgage, and this amount must be capped at SGD 1 million of the SGD 2 million threshold.

²Net financial assets are calculated as total financial assets minus related liabilities. Examples of financial assets are "deposits" (as defined in section 4B of the Banking Act, Chapter 19) and "investment products" such as securities, securities-based and other derivatives contracts, collective investment schemes, and life policies (as defined in section 2(1) of the FAA). Examples of related liabilities include a margin account and credit lines taken to finance an investment portfolio. Mortgages on real estate or car loans would not need to be included, since real estate and cars are not considered financial assets.
