- President Trump threatened the imposition of a 25% tariff plus a penalty on Indian exports to the US for importing oil from Russia
- Oil prices spiked by 7% in Jul'25, following a 6.3% rise in Jun'25, due to supply concerns after the US announced a shortened timeline for Russia to conclude its war in Ukraine
- India and the UK signed a Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA), reducing tariffs on 90% of UK products over the next 10 years
- The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) injected significant liquidity into the banking system, swinging from a deficit to a surplus of INR 3.5 Tn over five months
- CPI print came in at a 77-month low of 2.1% YoY (Consensus: 2.2% YoY), easing from 2.8% in May'25
- The INR depreciated 2.1% over the month and ended the month at 87.60/USD, with a one-year depreciation of 4.4% now

Jul'25 saw Indian equities decline amid rising US-India trade tensions and global macro uncertainty. Large-cap stocks fell 3.3%, underperforming Mid- and Small-caps, which declined 2.6% and 2.0% respectively. Market sentiment was weighed down by a muted earnings season, capital market volatility, INR depreciation, oil price spikes, and the announcement of a 25% US tariff plus penalties on 30th July 2025. Despite these challenges, India's domestic outlook has held up and remains supported by falling inflation, improved liquidity, and lower borrowing costs (aided by RBI's accommodative stance). India's relatively lower exposure to global goods trade compared to other Asian economies offers some insulation, but the newly imposed tariffs (targeting non-tariff barriers and strategic imports from Russia) pose near-term risks. The US, accounting for 20% of India's goods exports (2.2% of GDP; ~US$87 Bn), remains a key trade partner, and these measures could shave 20–30bps off India's FY26 real GDP growth. A US delegation is expected in late Aug'25 to continue negotiations.

Indian valuations have remain rich, supported by domestic flows. Selling by foreign investors has been a pain point, with India's allocation in global active funds at a two-decade low. However, India is likely to gain share in global output in the coming decades, driven by strong foundational factors, including robust population growth, a functioning democracy, macro stability-influenced policy, better infrastructure, a rising entrepreneurial ecosystem, and improving social outcomes. The implications are that India will become the world's most sought-after consumer market, it will undergo a major energy transition, credit to GDP will rise and manufacturing could gain share in GDP.

The Morningstar Rating TM for funds, or "star rating," is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods.
