Investment Objective and Strategy of IDBF & DBF

India Dynamic Bond Fund follows a Feeder Fund strategy and invests in Aditya Birla Sunlife Dynamic Bond Fund (DBF) which focuses on active management of fixed income securities. DBF is characterized as short term oriented & is benchmarked to CRISIL Short Term Bond Fund Index.

The DBF investment strategy is largely driven by two guiding factors:

- "Absolute return bias" where it endeavors to preserve the purchasing power of the capital.

- Generating "total returns" that comprises capital gains and interest income: For the purpose of exploring avenues of capital appreciation, it seeks to invest in Indian government securities and corporate bonds issued by Indian companies. To capture higher interest income, it seeks to invest in securities across the credit spectrum. Since the intention of DBF is to dynamically manage the asset allocation while keeping the investment objective in mind, the allocation at any point in time would change depending on the view on interest rates as well as the level of corporate spreads prevailing and also the availability of different assets.

Fund Commentary - DBF

As a dynamically managed portfolio, ABSL Dynamic Bond Fund moved to a duration led strategy in January 2014. The move helped the fund outperform other fixed income categories on a 3 year basis and also funds within its own category. With RBI indicating a pause on the interest rate easing cycle, we believe that the benefits and opportunities in the duration space seem to have diminished and accrual strategy led benefits seem to outweigh duration strategy led benefits. We believe that being a 'true to label' Dynamic Bond Fund, it is time to adopt an accrual centric strategy in ABSL Dynamic Bond Fund by investing majority of the portfolio (65% - 80%) in corporate bonds and credit structures of diverse credit profile.
